

Title of Motion Picture

"A Dog's Paradise (Fatter)"

Produced and Manufactured by

PATHE EXCHANGE, Inc.

NEW YORK, N. Y.

Copyrighted

© C1M 2213 ✓

DEC -1 1922

DEC -1 1922

RELEASED - DEC. 24, 1922

©C.M.

22130 THE FABLE OF A DOG'S PARADISE

Led by Fido the Dog gang is on a wild rampage of mischief. When the leader observes a butcher shop it suggests an idea which he tells his followers. He goes into the shop and attempts to steal a piece of meat. The butcher picks him up by the tail and throws him out. Fido wig-wags for help to his comrades. Upon the dog's third attempt, the butcher chases him up the street, and the dog gang following the wig-waged instructions rushes into the shop and starts into feast on the meat. Seeing the attack on the shop, the butcher runs back and engages in a battle royal with the invaders. As fast as he throws them out, they return. It so happens that Al. Falfa is doing dog catcher duty today and hearing the barking of dogs drives up to the shop. Now, when the butcher throws the dogs out Al. catches them and hurls them into the wagon. Fido manages to escape, but all the gang are corralled. Fido decides to throw a fit to gain the release of his mates. The pup chews a cake of soap, drinks some water, and blows some soapy froth which makes him appear "mad". He rushes back to the shop where the butcher and Al. are rejoicing over the victory. Fido's ruse works wonderfully and both the men shout, "Mad Dog!" They chase after Fido and collide with several people, who join in the run. When the crowd passes the fire house, several braves join in the pursuit of the "mad" dog. After a long run Fido pauses for breath on the street corner, the crowd stands back while Al. net in hand, attempts to catch the "wild beast". Fido leads him a pretty dance and suddenly turns upon him. Al. takes to his heels and soon Fido is chasing his previous pursuers. The Dog leader is indeed a clever pup, he chases the whole crowd into the jail, locks the door and swallows the key. Then he runs back to the dog catcher's wagon and releases his mates and the other inmates of the cage. The pack of animals makes a rush for the shop. They soon appease their appetites on the best steaks, chops, and loins. The day's festivities are concluded by jolly dancing in the sadly wrecked butcher shop. 'Tis a dog's day indeed.

Moral: "Every Dog Has His Day".

* * * *

This document is from the Library of Congress
“Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection,
1912-1977”

Collections Summary:

The Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, Class L and Class M, consists of forms, abstracts, plot summaries, dialogue and continuity scripts, press kits, publicity and other material, submitted for the purpose of enabling descriptive cataloging for motion picture photoplays registered with the United States Copyright Office under Class L and Class M from 1912-1977.

Class L Finding Aid:

<https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi020004>

Class M Finding Aid:

<https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi021002>

National Audio-Visual Conservation Center
The Library of Congress